If this occurs, the ticketed amount for each alleged offence to which the payment relates will be unpaid.
PAY IN PERSON
Present your ticket and payment at any driver licensing office, Service BC office or Provincial Court registry during regular business hours.
WHAT HAPPENS IF YOU PAY A TICKETED AMOUNT IN FULL? If you pay the ticketed amount in full, you are deemed to have pleaded guilty to the alleged offence and the offence will be added as a conviction to the records kept by the Insurance Corporation of British Columbia. WHAT HAPPENS IF YOU PAY A PORTION OF A TICKETED AMOUNT OR DO NOT PAY AT ALL? If, within 30 days of the date of service of the ticket, you pay a portion of the ticketed amount for an alleged offence, or do not pay the ticketed amount for the alleged offence and do not dispute the alleged offence, you are deemed to have pleaded guilty to the offence. This will have the following consequences: you will be subject to collection activity; the offence will be added as a conviction to the records kept by the Insurance Corporation of British Columbia; in the case of certain offences, you may be refused a licence or a permit under the Act that you have contravened or whose regulations you have contravened or under another enactment.
HOW TO DISPUTE THE TICKET
You can dispute an alleged offence set out in the non-shaded areas of the ticket or a fine or both by providing a notice of dispute in accordance with the instructions below. Your notice of dispute must be mailed or provided within 30 days of the date of service of the ticket. If you dispute an alleged offence, you or your agent will have to appear at a Provincial Court hearing. If you do not want to dispute an alleged offence but want to request a reduction in a fine or additional time to pay, you can complete and submit a Violation Ticket Statement and Written Reasons form with your notice of dispute (unless filed previously) or you or your agent can appear at a Provincial Court hearing to make the request. For information about the deadline for making the request and other details, you can visit tickets.gov.bc.ca.
